April 21-22: Right to Life – LIFESPAN Our Northern Neighbor-Reason for Concern!

DO YOU KNOW? In 2015, Canada's Supreme Court conjured a RIGHT to lethal-injection euthanasia for anyone with a medically diagnosable condition that causes irremediable suffering—AS DEFINED BY THE PATIENT. No matter if palliative interventions could significantly reduce painful symptoms, if the patient would rather die, it's the patient's right to be killed. Parliament then kowtowed to the court and legalized euthanasia across Canada. In the province of Ontario a court has ruled that a patient's desire to be euthanized trumps a doctor's conscientious objection. Doctors there now face a cruel choice between complicity in what they consider a grievous wrong—killing a sick or disabled patient—and the very real prospect of legal or professional sanction. With abortion already legal through all nine months of a pregnancy, life is now in jeopardy at both ends of the spectrum. We are concerned for Canadian citizens and we must be sure that we protect American citizens by ensuring this type of legislation does NOT happen in the United States.

April 28-29: Right to Life - LIFESPAN Educating Our Children!

Did you know? A 2016 study by the American Journal of Public Health found, “teenagers in the (government’s sex ed programs) were more likely to begin having sex...and more likely to get pregnant.” And, it’s no wonder. The curriculum is so extreme that 40% of young people said they felt more pressure to engage in sex from their sex ed classes than from their boyfriend or girlfriend. Somewhere along the way, it became assumed, not discouraged, that teenagers would have sex. As a result, we have an entire area of teen education that accelerates the risks instead of curbing them. Think about other behaviors that would negatively impact a teen’s life. We don’t tell kids to drink less; we tell them not to drink, period. We don’t hand teens filters for cigarettes, assuming they’ll light up anyway—we challenge them not to smoke, period. Most teenagers want to be challenged to stay pure, too. Valerie Huber from the President’s HHS department states: “the healthiest message for youth is one that gives youth the skills and information to avoid the risks of teen sex, not merely reduce them.” ABSTINENCE! We have info and resources for you to share with the teens in your life to teach and empower them.
