NIAID Funded Research With Body Parts From Viable, Healthy Babies Killed in Abortions

By Micaiah Bilger

A new investigation by the Daily Wire found that the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID), headed by Anthony Fauci, supported a study at the University of California - San Francisco that used organs from 18 to 23 week aborted babies to study bacterial growth.

The study "Viable bacterial colonization is highly limited in the human intestine in utero" was published in February 2020 in the journal "Nature Medicine."

According to the study, researchers used "donated" intestine, kidneys, spleens and lymph nodes from aborted babies at 18 to 23 weeks gestation. The babies' organs came from the Department of Obstetrics, Gynecology and Reproductive Science at Zuckerberg San Francisco General Hospital, the study noted.

The babies' organs "were collected by a single operator using sterile tools within 10 minutes of termination procedure and placed into sterile containers" and then "transported in media on ice and processed within 2 hours after collection," according to the study.

The researchers acknowledged several sources of taxpayer funding that they used to conduct their study, including a National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases grant from which the university used $113,727 since 2017 (Grant No. F31 AI136336), the Daily Wire reports. Other taxpayer-funded grants came from the National Science Foundation and National Institutes of Health.

The group that initially discovered the study, Pro-Life San Francisco, has been urging UCSF to stop its unethical abortion and research practices, according to the report. Earlier this week, Pro-Life San Francisco released documents it received from the university through a public documents request showing how UCSF is harvesting aborted babies' genitalia and other organs for research. Unbeknownst to most Americans, their tax dollars are funding these disturbing, unethical abortion practices. Earlier this summer, David Daleiden, founder of the Center for Medical Progress, told Townhall that [NIAID] also gave $61 million to the University of Pittsburgh in 2019 for scientific research, and some of that money funded grizzly experiments involving aborted baby body parts being attached to mice and rats.

In one study, scientists used scalps from aborted babies between 18 and 20 weeks of pregnancy to create "humanized" mice and rats to study the human immune system. The researchers described it as "full-thickness human skin."

Along with their article, the researchers published photos of their experiment – horrific images that show tufts of babies' hair growing on the rodents.

LIFESPAN's GENERATION TRUTH

at the Protect Life Michigan: Life Advocate Intensive Training

Roberto Arkenburg

I am incredibly grateful that LIFESPAN sponsored me to go to the Protect Life Michigan Life Advocate Intensive Training event! I had an amazing time!

I met some amazing young people from around the state from different colleges & religious backgrounds and listened to great lectures from incredible guest speakers.

I learned a lot about how serious this issue is and how to be an advocate for life.

We practiced outreach with Abortion Victim Photography in Grand Rapids which was very difficult but rewarding.

When I was able to change someone's mind about an exception for rape victims getting abortions, I put my training in action, talked about the innocent human that was created and the importance of not doing any more harm in that situation. When the gentleman I was talking to told me I had changed his mind, I felt elated. It was the first time in a long time I felt I was doing something important and with a purpose.

I am ready and excited to join the fight for the Right to Life of the Unborn!

Rachael Baker

When I was made president of my university's chapter of Protect Life MI, we were at the height of the COVID-19 pandemic. Schools were forced completely online, so we didn't have many opportunities for outreach. Although I'd studied apologetics and given talks on how to converse with pro-choicers, I didn't have much hands-on experience myself, having done only two outreaches in an entire year. I wanted to get more experience and practice using the apologetics I'd studied.

I was thankful to Right to Life – LIFESPAN for sponsoring me so I could go and participate in the Life Advocate Intensive training this summer. I was excited and eager to learn more about how and when to use certain arguments, and I was especially excited to have the opportunity to change hearts and minds about abortion. That was the biggest draw to Protect Life for me in the first place; for the first time, I would have the ability to do something about an issue I deeply cared about. Those three days at LAI were exactly what I needed to give me the confidence to do well in outreach.

I was energized for advocating for the unborn and equipped with apologetics skills to engage in fruitful conversation on the street. I felt a sense of comfort knowing that regardless how it went, any conversation that could get someone to at least consider the reality of abortion would be worthwhile. I was ready for those that disagreed with me; I was not ready for those who didn't have an opinion. I couldn't believe how many people walking by merely shrugged.

Witnessing the cultural apathy toward abortion at outreach shocked me. It lit a fire in me to want to continue advocating for the unborn. People really just don't care. They've become so desensitized to the idea that a woman can receive an abortion for any reason that they either think it's okay, or they don't think voicing their opinion against it will change anything.

To every apathetic person that brushed us off, we challenged their perspectives as they walked by. For every man that said he wasn't entitled to an opinion, we had another on our side gently asking him why. For every person that said, "my body, my choice," we asked where that line ended. We stood firm and handled the flood of people cursing us and our cause, and when we needed encouragement, we turned to each other. As long as there are people unafraid to stand for what's right, we have hope. It's an uphill battle, but it's worth the struggle if it means that even just a few women realize that abortion is never the answer to an unplanned pregnancy.

Evan Sketch

I am so thankful that Right to Life - LIFESPAN gave me the opportunity to be the voice for the unborn!

The Life Advocate Intensive training was enriching, challenging, and life-giving. We hit the ground running. We certainly had time to meet others, have fun, and build real community, but we truly worked hard! On each day, we did outreach in the downtown area of Grand Rapids where I conversed with a lot of different people. Some pro-life, some pro-choice, and some did not have any opinion at all.

My most memorable conversation was with two friends named Alex and Roman. I politely asked, "What do you guys think about abortion?" They gave an honest response saying that they had not thought about it much at all. They explained that they knew friends and siblings who had an abortion in the past and that it must be okay in certain circumstances because of a woman's tough circumstances. Remembering back to my training I found common-ground by saying, "I totally agree with you that being pregnant and being impoverished must be super hard", then I moved on to make my analogy and question, "Can I give you a scenario? What if the mother had her baby despite financial difficulty for whatever reason. Now that baby is a toddler, a couple years old, where the mother and the baby are in the same hard circumstances. Does this give us the right to kill the toddler?" They replied no because it's different like one would expect.

I moved on to explain that the Size, Level of Development, Environment, and Dependency could not possibly justify the killing of a human being. They replied that it was hard to say that a fetus was a baby. I addressed the fact that an embryo is unlike any other "clump of cells" one might compare it to because it has the wonderful ability to grow. I definitely could have improved on explaining the biology of the unborn and why the unborn is human. Nonetheless, they listened respectfully and tracked with me for what I had to say (which I GREATLY appreciated). Alex said, "Wow. I definitely have to think about this some more. Thank you for being respectful and having a civil conversation - a lot of people nowadays can't have this." I thanked them from the bottom of my heart and sent them on their way. They stopped at the corner with some of the other pro-life advocates for the light. Before they crossed Alex jogged back to me and thanked me once again for talking so respectfully and standing for my beliefs.

May You Live in Interesting Times

The words in the caption to this item are said to be an ancient blessing - or curse. It is up to the reader to decide which they prefer, but we are truly experiencing "interesting" times. Depending on what you are hearing on the news or reading in the papers, it would be very easy to feel unsettled and ill at ease. It is easy to get caught up in the heated rhetoric from the many sources to which you are exposed. Read as much as you can. Try to understand what the various reports are explaining and then evaluate the information you receive and determine what is best for you and your families. Not everyone will agree on any one position. Try to be kind to those who disagree with you and ask for their kindness too.

Christmas is Coming

What? - it is only August!! Yes, but the Christmas countdown has already begun, and our 2021 Christmas Cards will be arriving in mid-September. If you want your faith community to participate this year, please call the office - 248-816-1546 - and we can explain the process to you. If you already have decided to offer the cards to your faith community or organization, please get your order in to the office as soon as possible.

Hyde Amendment Excluded from Bill

The House of Representatives passed a package of spending bills this week without provisions banning federal funding for most abortions in the U.S. and abroad, marking the first time in decades that the restrictions have not been included. A provision known as the Hyde Amendment has been included in every package since 1976. The House also excluded the Helms Amendment which has barred U.S. funds from being used for abortions in other countries since Congress passed it in 1973. The result is that your tax dollars can now be used to fund abortions here and abroad. UPDATE: An amendment proposed by James Lankford, Representative from OK, includes the Hyde Amendment's prohibition on Federal funding or abortion on demand. The amendment also includes conscience protections for health care providers and insurance companies. Although the amendment is non-binding, none the less signals the chambers majority support for the prohibitions found in the Hyde Amendment.

What Changed???

In a letter to his constituents in 1984, Mr. Biden said that "those of us who are opposed to abortion should not be compelled to pay for them." And when running for President in 2008, he said he was "still opposed to public funding for abortion."

Thank You Bowlers & Golfers!

A special thanks to all LIFESPAN supporters who rolled strikes, spares, and even a few gutter balls at the 2021 Bowling for Life event at Woodland Lanes in Livonia. Attendees bowled two games, enjoyed a pizza dinner, and tested their luck with our raffle baskets and 50/50. Fun was had by all. By the time you read this, the inaugural LIFESPAN Links for Life Charity Golf Outing will likely have taken place on Monday, September 13th. Thank you in advance for all the generous sponsors of the event and all supporters who join us to golf and help to spread the word to other golfers.

2021 CIDER Walk for Life

Join us as our Chapter hosts the 2021 CIDER Walk for Life to celebrate Respect Life Month in October. CIDER stands for Children In-utero Deserve Equal Rights, plus we will serve cider and doughnuts following the walk. The walk is a non-competitive, all-ages opportunity to witness for the right to life for all pre-born children while exercising. This event will take place at park to be determined on Sunday, October 17th. A local pro-life speaker will provide a brief educational update at this event. All participants will receive a CIDER Walk t-shirt. Look for additional details on our website and in the October Church Notes or call 734-422-6230, e-mail: wcdr@rtl-lifespan.org, or visit www.miLIFESPAN.org for more details. Along with the annual Life Chain on Sunday, October 3rd, CIDER Walk is a great time to join LIFESPAN and actively speak up for those who cannot speak for themselves.

Amicus Briefs Support Life in Dobbs Case

The Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health case regarding Mississippi's ban on abortions beyond 15 weeks continues to draw great attention from both pro-life and pro-abortion supporters. Numerous pro-life organizations and leaders have filed amicus curiae, "friend of the court" briefs, with the U.S. Supreme Court to back the State of Mississippi and Mississippi Attorney General Lynn Fitch in arguing the case. Twelve state Governors, 44 U.S. Senators, 184 U.S. Representatives, former Vice President Pence, 79 pro-life woman state legislators, the National March for Life, Susan B. Anthony List, Students for Life of America, Thomas More Society, Center for Medical Progress, and Democrats for Life of America among many others have filed briefs to overturn the evil existing jurisprudence on abortion.

Wee Care

Dear Friends,

I am so blessed to work at Wee Care, where love for our babies and happiness from those giving and receiving touches everyone. I often refer to my "Wee Care Angels". I would like to mention just a few who stopped by THIS week.

One angel, who over 25 years ago started crocheting afghans as her mother made tiny sleepers, continues her mom's legacy and now purchases sleepers to match her beautiful afghans.

Another angel who is struggling with many health problems, continues to spread her joy with frequent visits always carrying diapers.

A generous angel who LOVES to shop for our babies, fills her car with the bounty of her awesome sales! (Don't know who is happier!)

Another angel, after having two heart attacks, made Wee Care one of her and her sweet husband's first outings to drop off diapers for the babies.

We received a check this week from a host of angels from a very caring church who, in the midst of the pandemic with doors closed and no one able to attend, continued to support our babies.

Another caring angel stopped in with adorable, newly washed treasures she found while garage sailing!

And another couple of angels delivered diapers, quilts and baby supplies from their church, which collects items year round. Their joy is contagious!

There are so many angels I could write about - these just stopped in this week!

There is one, however, that in the midst of unspeakable tragedy and heartbreak, asked people to donate to Wee Care in memory of their son, who was pro-life even as a little boy. Stephen, at the age of 15, died suddenly last week. Please pray for his family. There are no words to describe the excruciating pain that they must be going through. Our hearts are breaking for them. As members of our Wee Care family, please surround them with your love and prayers.

Wee Care truly is a family and I am so blessed to be a part of it - to be a part of you.

Love, Karen

Youth Report

Dear Friends of Life,

We have been busy the last two months and are happy to share with you that we will move forward with our Youth Bus Trip plans for an in-person March for Life in January and our Be the Change Youth Event plans for late February or early March 2022 (dates and locations to be determined for Wayne County and Oakland/Macomb Counties). Please see the next newsletter for updates on these two activities for young people. A hint as to who our main speaker at the Be the Change event will be is an abortion survivor. He will share his inspirational testimony with us.

LIFESPAN was happy to sponsor three college students to attend the Protect Life Michigan: Life Advocate Intensive Training from July 22 - 24, 2021 in Grand Rapids. Each of the students who attended gave an assessment of their experiences and we are sharing them with you as well as some pictures of them and their outreach. These can be found on pages 6 & 7 of this Newsletter.

Thank you for helping us continue this important outreach to

From the President's Desk

My Dear Pro-Life Brothers and Sisters,

As you know by reading our Newsletter and being a member of LIFESPAN, we have been a force for pro-life causes since 1968 (incorporating in 1970). We have never been an organization that boasts or is in your face with our accomplishments. We are too busy doing the necessary work that has kept the issue alive in Metro Detroit. We are the voice for the preborn and have been for over 50 years. LIFESPAN works quietly, yet we are steadfast in our goals to educate, care for moms and their babies in need and keep the pro-life issues in front of the public. If pro-life groups do not do this, who will? Due to limited funds we do not have a huge advertising or media budget. Our communication to you is through our website (miLIFESPAN.org), our Newsletter, and events. In this Newsletter, I want to share with you the words of our student pro-lifers who have had the opportunity to learn because of your generous support. Our "Generation Truth" Youth programs have educated and influenced many young people to pursue the goals and teaching of the pro-life cause, a respect of all human life from conception to natural death.

It is because of your generosity and support that we can maintain our Programs and events. I hope that by reading the thoughts directly from our young pro-life students, you may be encouraged, as I am, that another generation will be taking over, and the continuation of the Pro-life movement is irreversible.

May God give us the courage, energy and needed funds to continue our quest to promote a respect for human life from conception till natural death.
