"...a rose by any other name would smell as sweet..." William Shakespeare, Romeo and Juliet, Act II Scene II.

On the April 7, 2025, "Alex Marlow Show," host and Breitbart Editor-in-Chief Alex Marlow discussed recent rhetoric on abortion from Democrats in Colorado.

Marlow stated, "A Colorado Democrat (Rep. Julie McCluskie, D-Dillons) said birth is more expensive than abortion and they're calling [abortions] now, 'averted births'.

Averted births? What next?

‘Shut These Murderers Down’: 3 States File Abortion Pill Lawsuit

By Ben Johnson

Three pro-life states have asked a federal court to protect women — and teenage girls — from the potentially deadly effects of the abortion pill, overturning years of “dangerous” executive actions imposed by the Obama and Biden-Harris administrations.

The states of Missouri, Kansas, and Idaho have sued the administration to reinstate the original protocols the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) enacted when it approved the abortion pill, mifepristone, in 2000, rolling back a decade of deregulation of chemical abortion that they contend has hurt or killed women. The lawsuit names the FDA, the Department of Health and Human Services, and HHS Secretary Xavier Becerra.

“Women face severe, even life-threatening, harm because the federal government has disregarded their health and safety,” says the states’ 199-page legal brief.

The Clinton administration’s FDA originally approved mifepristone (known at the time as RU-486) for only the first seven weeks of pregnancy; mandated that medical personnel must dispense the two-drug chemical abortion cocktail in-person; and required three in-person visits (to confirm pregnancy, to administer the drug, and to assure the mother’s health after dispensing it). The abortion industry largely ignored legal norms and dispensed the drug far later. The Obama administration unilaterally legalized their practice by extending the date to 10 weeks, reduced the in-person visits to one, and eliminated reporting of all adverse effects except death. The Biden-Harris administration removed all in-person visits and allowed pharmacies to dispense the life-taking drugs.

The states contend this puts women’s and girls’ health at risk.

“Abortion drugs are dangerous — the FDA’s own label says that an estimated roughly one in 25 women who take abortion drugs will visit the emergency room,” it states. “[T]he FDA has failed in this responsibility by removing many of the safety standards it once provided to women using abortion drugs. ... These dangerous drugs are now flooding states like Missouri and Idaho and sending women in these States to the emergency room.”

The parties filed the lawsuit with U.S. District Judge Matthew Kacsmaryk of Texas. Last April, Judge Kacsmaryk ruled in favor of a previous lawsuit contending that the FDA illegally expedited its approval of the abortion pill, mifepristone, at the end of the Clinton administration in 2000. The Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld much of his decision, but the U.S. Supreme Court later ruled the pro-life physicians who filed suit lacked standing to sue the FDA. Kacsmaryk served as deputy general counsel at the pro-life First Liberty Institute before his appointment to the court by President Donald Trump.

The laxer chemical abortion procedure also endangers teenage girls, contends the lawsuit filed by Kansas Attorney General Kris Kobach (R), Missouri Attorney General Andrew Bailey (R), and Idaho Attorney General Raul Labrador (R). “In 2016, the agency also ignored the potential impacts that the removal of commonsense safeguards would have on adolescent girls, a violation of the Pediatric Research and Equity Act (PREA). It improperly relied on extrapolation in lieu of any safety assessment of the new regimen’s safety and effectiveness on pediatric populations,” says the lawsuit.

“And the FDA needed to classify pregnancy as a ‘disease’ to avoid such a safety assessment. But pregnancy is not a disease,” states the complaint. The focus on adolescent health sets it apart from the previous Supreme Court case.

The action has won praise from the pro-life movement. The “American Life League applauds the attorney generals of Missouri, Kansas, and Idaho for filling a suit against the FDA for its recklessness in allowing the deadly abortion pill regimen to be sent through the mail,” Katie Brown, national director of the American Life League (ALL), told The Washington Stand.

She continued, “We are hopeful that this lawsuit will put a stop to the deadly abortion pill drug cartel, which illegally traffics these unregulated drugs across our border, into states with abortion restrictions. Thanks to the FDA, we have no idea of how many women and babies have paid the ultimate price due to unfettered access to chemical abortion. The cases that we do know about are heartbreaking, and only scratch the surface of the demonic attempt to make these pills so accessible. It is our hope and prayer that this suit will expose the abortion pill for what it is, a barbaric practice that takes an innocent life every single time.”

ALL issued a report titled “Beneath the Surface: Exposing the Abortion Pill Drug Cartel,” which argued the abortion “pill network is modeled after the drug cartel, creating an abortion pill crisis similar to our nation’s narcotics crisis.”

“Every state in America should sue the FDA, along with Planned Parenthood, the facilitator and referral agent, and hold them accountable,” ALL Vice President Hugh Brown told TWS. “Shut these murderers down.”

Mullin, Texas becomes 71st 'Sanctuary City for the Unborn' in US

By Mark Lee Dickson

On April 8, the City Council of Mullin (pop. 196), located in central Texas, became the 71st city in the nation to pass an ordinance declaring itself a Sanctuary City for the Unborn (SCFTU).

City Manager Dexter Morris introduced the measure to the Mullin City Council and stated that he believed the ordinance would be good for the city. Following a presentation from Right to Life Across Texas, Councilman Rex Williams made a motion to adopt the ordinance which was seconded by Councilwoman Nita Fraizer. The ordinance was passed in a unanimous 5-0 vote with council members Rex Williams, Nita Fraizer, Skyler Gilmore-Bradley, Sheri Minard, and Royce Roberts all voting in favor of the life-saving measure.

Mullin follows several cities from throughout the area that have passed the measure, including Abilene (pop. 129,043), San Angelo (pop. 101,612), Eastland (pop. 3,970), Cisco (pop. 3,913), Gorman (pop. 1,083), Carbon (pop. 348), and Impact (pop. 20).

Mullin resident Sherrie Shelton called the measure "common sense."

After the vote, Pastor Randy Bradley of Mullin First Baptist Church shared:

I was moved by the willingness of our city council to take such a bold stand for the lives of the unborn. I am overjoyed at being part of a community which passed this ordinance unanimously.

So often it feels like the important matters of the world are out of our hands, but this brings it down to the local level right in the hands of everyday folks.

Pastor Bradley also shared that, if needed, he would be glad to help any Mullin resident with a ride to one of the two closest Central Texas Pregnancy Care Center offices located 11 miles away in Goldthwaite (pop. 1,878) or 25 miles away in Brownwood (pop. 18,862). The ordinance also educates about the Thriving Texas Families Program and directs people to the Texas Pregnancy Care Network website for additional resources outside of Mills County and neighboring Brown County.

Mullin resident Danielle Doyer was also excited to hear about her city becoming the next sanctuary for the unborn. Years ago, Doyer and her husband helped a young mother who was pregnant and having a difficult time figuring out how to make life work. Doyer was not only willing to adopt the pregnant mother's unborn baby, but also willing to invite the pregnant mother to live with her family and walk through life with her. The support Doyer showed to the pregnant mother was, at that given time, just what the young mother needed. After the child was born, the young mother was in a better place to raise her child.

Doyer shared:

I strive to treat others how I want to be treated. I imagine myself in their shoes and ask myself how I would want to be treated if that were me. If that were me in my mom's womb, I would desperately want a chance at life, to prove I am worth letting live.

Picture by Mark Lee Dickson

The way we give pregnant mothers a quick way out leaves them emotionally and sometimes physically scarred for life. Wouldn't the healthier, more loving option be to surround them as a community and help set them up to be successful parents?

I know that Mullin's city leadership standing for life will offend some people, but helping people live a healthy life is never a wrong choice. I am in full support of our state and local leaders fighting for life.

The six provisions of the Mullin SCFTU Ordinance are as follows: (1) prohibit performing an elective abortion and aiding or abetting elective abortions within the city limits of Mullin, (2) prohibit elective abortions on residents of Mullin – regardless of where the abortion takes place, (3) prohibit abortion trafficking through the City of Mullin, (4) prohibit the mailing of abortion-inducing drugs into the City of Mullin, (5) prohibit criminal abortion organizations from doing business inside the city limits, and (6) prohibit through or in the City of Mullin the transportation and disposal of the remains of unborn children who have been killed by an elective abortion across state lines and carried into Texas by waste management companies.

The Mullin SCFTU Ordinance is enforced the same way the Texas Heartbeat Act is enforced – through a private right of action. The ordinance reads, "Any person, other than the city of Mullin, and any officer or employee of the city, has standing to bring and may bring a civil action against any person or entity that: violates any provision" of this ordinance.

The Mullin SCFTU ordinance has a six-year statute of limitations and is clear that "a civil action ... may not be brought against the woman upon whom the abortion was performed or induced or attempted to be performed or induced in violation of this ordinance, or against a pregnant woman who intends or seeks to abort her unborn child in violation of this ordinance."

While no litigation against the city is expected over the passage of the ordinance, the City of Mullin received a preemptive letter from Attorney Jonathan F. Mitchell, with the former Solicitor General of Texas offering to represent the City of Mullin at no cost to the city or taxpayers for any litigation that may arise from the passage of their ordinance outlawing abortion and abortion trafficking.

Mullin will not be the last "sanctuary for the unborn." More cities and counties across the state are considering passing such measures. Texas residents interested in seeing their local government pass an enforceable ordinance seeking to close loopholes in Texas abortion laws are encouraged to sign the online petition from the Sanctuary Cities for the Unborn Initiative.

LIFESPAN Chapter News

In Memory of All Mothers

In the rising of the sun and in its setting; we remember them.
 In the blowing of the wind and the chill of winter; we remember them.
 In the opening of buds and the warmth of summer; we remember them.
 In the beginning of the year and when it ends; we remember them.
 When we are lost and sick at heart; we remember them.
 When we have joys we yearn to share; we remember them.
 So long as we live, they too shall live.
 For they are now part of us, as we remember them.

Alleluia! Finally, Good News for Life in Michigan

While we certainly know that the ultimate victory of Life over Death belongs to the Lord and has already been won, the past five years have been horribly disheartening to pro-lifers in Michigan. The political situation in Michigan still could not be worse for human beings in the womb and it is becoming more perilous for individuals with disabilities and at the final stages of life. Despite all the recent failures in Michigan, there is finally an enormous victory for life. On April 2, Planned Parenthood of Michigan announced that it will be cutting 10% of its staff and closing four facilities in Michigan: Marquette, Petoskey, Jackson, and one of two abortion chambers in Ann Arbor. The UP and northern Lower Peninsula are free of brick and mortar abortion shops as of May 1. Let this motivate us to redouble our efforts to work for human dignity and to pray in front of the abortion chambers in Eastpointe, Ferndale, Westland, Livonia, Sterling Heights, and all over Metro Detroit!

Chapter Staffing

There is also great news in the Chapter as we have hired a new Office Manager, Mr. Andrew Slonina. Andrew started on April 9 and will train with Tim for the first month. While April offices hours were shortened by necessity, we plan a return to "normal" with the Chapter office open three days per week starting May 12. We continue to search for a part-time Wayne Youth Director. If you are looking for a job in the pro-life movement, please contact Tim Pruse at tpruse@milifespan.org or send a resume. The position is office-based, but does come with room for flexibility and creativity for a candidate motivated to build relationships with local school faculty, DREs, and youth ministers. It is an ideal position for a motivated local college student or part-time church staff member.

Wee Care

Being a mom – the hardest, best, most rewarding job in the world!

Surrounding you all with love, hugs and prayers-
The women trying desperately to get pregnant-
The moms, who once again, have miscarried their cherished child-
The moms who cradle their sick child in their arms and make promises to God-
The moms who brokenheartedly, but with great love, give their baby to the adoptive couple-
The moms who leave in the middle of the night with their baby to escape an abusive partner-
The moms living with their little ones in a homeless shelter or a rundown motel-
The moms who are teenagers, thrown out of their home because they refused to abort-
The moms who sob at night, not knowing how they will ever provide for their little ones-

The moms with tears in their eyes and open arms waiting to hug, thanking Wee Care (you!) for everything they have received to begin to care for their newborn-

Love, hugs and prayers-
To the new moms, holding their precious baby in their arms and experiencing the greatest joy of all-
To the new grandma (and the "old" ones!) who never thought their heart could any more love – until someone called them "gramma"-
And to the great-grandmothers – I hear that is even another level of love – I can't even imagine!

To all of you – wishing you a day of love, hugs and prayers!

Love, Karen

YOUTH REPORT

Dear Students, Young Adults, Parents, School Teachers, Campus Ministers, Principals, Presidents, Administrators, Parish/Church Youth Groups and Leaders, DRE's, and other staff who work with young people,

A big thanks to all the teens who have been helping with things at the Oakland/Macomb Chapter office and doing some things at home for us. And, also a big thanks to all the students and young adults who will attend and help out at the LIFESPAN Celebrate Life Dinner on May 6th. We appreciate their energy and enthusiasm! If you have a teenager who needs volunteer hours for school or for church, please let us know! If you live in the Wayne County/Detroit area, contact Tim Pruse at that office. If you live in the Oakland/Macomb County area, contact me.

In late May, we will be offering teens 11th-12th grades and young adults up to 25 years old, sponsorships for the Protect Life Michigan Life Advocate Intensive Training that will be held in the summer – July 25-27th in the Detroit area and August 7-9th in the Grand Rapids area. We have sponsored young people to attend this training event for at least 10 years. Although this training takes you well out of your comfort zone, all the young people have gained a great deal from it and some ask if we can sponsor them the next year so they can learn more! Please send me an email to let me know if you are interested in learning more about the training.

Mark your calendars for Thursday, November 6th, to join us on a day trip to Lansing for the Michigan March for Life! We will have up to six locations where buses will pick people up at – confirmed in Shelby Township, Novi, Lake Orion, Livonia, and hopefully Plymouth and Royal Oak will be added to the list. There is a flyer on page 2 with some more details.

Also, mark your calendars for the Movement in Motion Bus Trip to DC in January 2026. We will have buses staying at a host church for two nights and a bus staying at a hotel for three nights (January 22-24/25). Two bus pick up locations are confirmed in Auburn Hills and in Sterling Heights. We hope to have one in Plymouth and one in Bloomfield Hills too. More information will be provided over the summer.

Of course, there are many other pro-life activities and events that will take place in the summer and in the fall. We hope you are able to participate in as many as possible!

Let's continue working together to

To Honor the Gravesites of our Unborn Brothers and Sisters

National Day of Remembrance for Aborted Children

Saturday, Sept. 13, 2025 • 1:00 pm
White Chapel Cemetery

Our Five Unborn Children of God

"In 1980, the bodies of 5 pre-born infants were found in Oakland County. Four bodies, found in a self-serve storage locker, were said to be 5 months or less in gestation. The fifth child found in a plastic container behind a medical clinic, was found to be approximately 8 months in gestation.

In both instances, those responsible stated that the bodies were mistakenly placed where they were found and that it was "error" or "accident" that caused them to be improperly disposed of.

Regardless of how the 5 preborn children met their deaths, it was felt by Right to Life - LIFESPAN that a more fitting place for the bodies was imperative. These children were not able to experience their right to life and we felt that at least, in death, their humanity should be recognized and burial be provided as should and would be provided for any other member of our human family.

Through the courtesy of A.J. Desmond and Sons, Funeral Directors, and White Chapel Cemetery, the bodies of these preborn children were laid to rest in a brief and simple ceremony on May 2, 1980."

- LIFESPAN Newsletter, May 1980

On Saturday, September 13th, LIFESPAN will join other pro-life Americans across the country to honor the memory of the more than 65,000,000 pre-born victims of abortion during the National Day of Remembrance for Aborted Children.

Here's a Perfect Mother

The perfect mother is 5 feet, 2 inches tall, wears a size 7 dress, weighs 112 pounds, can twist in burned-out light bulbs without a chair in 8-foot ceilings, hold a 30-pound, 2-year-old on her hip while loading a 50-pound sack of sugar onto a shopping cart with her free arm and have a lap big enough to hold 2.5 children.

The perfect mother always prepares balanced meals, feeds her children all the fast foods they want, never serves leftovers and never forgets dessert. She has a food budget she finances by recycling aluminum and glass, only buys in bulk and during sales and saves enough to redecorate the kitchen.

The perfect mother volunteers 20 hours a week at the school, 10 hours a week at the parish, holds down a part-time job as a librarian and import buyer, takes night classes in American history and is home whenever you call because you forgot your lunch or need a ride.

The perfect mother never loses her temper, understands when her 14-year-old wants to marry someone 25 and move to Honduras, disciplines without ever saying, "Wait until I tell your father," or "God will get you for that," and is never afraid to show her emotions.

The perfect mother is 29 and has 30 years of child-raising experience, never spoils her child and lets her children do everything that everybody else's mom lets their friends do.

The perfect mother knows how to spell "necessary," "accommodate" and "separate," and every other word in the English language, never says, "Look it up yourself, turkey" and works well with the teacher in helping build strong study habits.

The perfect mother always takes the popped yolk, the bent fork, the chipped dish, the seat behind the pillar, the wobbly chair, the last shower and the car that has to be parked on a hill to start.

The perfect mother never complains.

The perfect mother doesn't live at our house.

Happy Mother's Day

From the President's Desk

What a privilege we have as women to be able to carry, nurture, and help create the next generation. Over the centuries, Motherhood has been highly revered in many cultures. Women carrying the XX Chromosomes at birth have been given greatest profession God ever created: MOTHERHOOD. Bearing and raising children. What a gift and privilege. Yet, since the sixties, this profession has been continually attacked by those who want to tear down our Judeo-Christian interpretation of motherhood, as well as undermining traditional family values. Motherhood and staying at home raising children was criticized and shunned by the Women's Movement of the time. Women were led to believe that for them to obtain full freedom they had to be able to do anything they wanted especially when it pertained to their body.

To deny your motherhood and abort your child was the most important mission of the Women's Movement of the sixties, and sadly it is the same today. If the radical Women's Movement was truly for women and to protect women, their cause would go beyond abortion. They use euphemisms and lies to push their agenda but, make no mistake, radical permissive abortion was the goal. What else have they done for women in the past 60 years? Today is a good example; where have they been when women are being used for sex trafficking, or men are allowed to play in women's sports. Men and women are built differently and their DNA is hugely different. Just by declaring yourself a woman does not make you a woman. Women are being hurt physically. The top prizes in a sport they have worked for all their lives are being stripped from them - they cannot compete with the XY chromosome of a man. Where is the Women's Movement? Where are the progressive women crying out for equality? They are only seen marching for abortion rights holding signs "My Body My Choice!" Where are they when motherhood is being attacked like never before?

As a woman, a proud one at that, I am disgusted and angry at what this modern culture has done to us women. We not only have had to fight for our equality throughout the centuries, but now we fight just to exist as women. Another dehumanizing assault on us has come from Gov. Tony Evers of Wisconsin. In his Budget Bill 2025-2027, he recommended gendered terms to be changed. His new definition of Mother would be "Inseminated Person." Can you image how this has now brought women down to what they were one thousand years ago - just a vessel for pleasure and a commodity to be used? Where is the Women's Movement to challenge this absurd action? Hearing this term, I felt a personal attack on me as a mother. This demeaning term to motherhood is a way to break up the traditional family. There is no place in this 21st century for such ignorance, especially those who we put in office to represent us. Elections do matter! Gov. Evers: your so-called "inclusive" term for motherhood disenfranchised 98% of the mothers in this country. Do you call that a representation of the people?

As Mother's Day approaches, let us rededicate ourselves to promoting Motherhood and all the values it brings to society. Every single person has a mother. Some mothers are more nurturing and caring than others, but all have a responsibility to care for and love their children. Many children have surrogate mothers who may be grandparents, an aunt, or a friend to help them obtain the best version of themselves. All needs to be applauded and revered. It is time we start a true Women's Movement that loves and cares for the most vulnerable. A Women's Movement that takes the word "abortion" out of their mission statement and replaces it with the protection and promotion of all women, from conception to natural death. I do believe that within the pro-life movement we have that Women's Movement. A philosophy that promotes the rights and respect of all women, in and outside the womb. We must continue to speak out against any attack on motherhood as well as any disrespect toward women in general. We must never allow society to view us as inseminated vessels. God gave us equal rights and the US Constitution confirmed it. We must never let anyone take that right. We must fight for the life of all little girls to be born, and we must fight now for motherhood.

To all the mothers who bore us in their womb (including my mom), I thank you for giving the gift of life. To adoptive mothers who never had the privilege of feeling a loving kick but in their soul and heart knew the child they received was theirs (thus experiencing the joy of motherhood), I thank you. For all the grandmothers and aunts who became surrogate mothers when a child needed them, I thank you.

HAPPY MOTHERS DAY! Blessings upon you all on your special day!

Yours in Life, Diane
